Delivering life's precious MOMENTS

Now that we've been here 15 years, it's great to watch babies that I delivered now reach middle school and high school years. It's really fun to see them show up on the football field, basketball court, volleyball court. I find myself remembering and reflecting back on them as babies. Otherwise, our interaction with them is limited just here in the clinic at well-child checks and seeing them when they are sick, so it's fun to see them out having fun.
